This 15-hour program is for direct care staff (nurses, nursing assistants, social workers, supervisors, administrators, therapists, etc.). It is a two-day, highly interactive program that teaches the skills necessary for successfully interacting with people who have dementia. The training is fun, interesting and innovative. Role plays, case studies, and experiential exercises are used throughout. A certificate of completion will be provided at the end of the training.

Course topics include:

- Understanding Alzheimer’s Disease and Aging Issues
- Effective Communication
- Promoting Strengths and Abilities
- Accepting Behavior as Communication
- Understanding the Person
- Impact of the Environment
- Adding Meaning to Daily Life
- The Importance of Teamwork and Self Care
